Morning Session.

This morning only small cases were tried, and most of the cases on the docket for selling liquor without a license were disposed of. The cases against Phil Abbott, J. S. Bordeux, Sam Carter and George W. Bury were continued by the court because the defendants were not present. Ed Gardner, colored, charged with selling liquor without a license, was not prosecuted on motion of the prosecuting attorney.

Elmer Beauregard, colored, Gene Dalton, were found guilty of selling liquor without a federal license and were sentenced to 30 days in the federal court, and fined $100. Luke Clark, colored, and Curry Higgins pleaded not guilty to the charge of selling liquor without a license, but the juries returned verdicts of guilty, and their punishment was fixed at 60 days in the county jail, and $100 each.

The case of L. Robertson, charged with selling liquor without a license at Murray, was continued by the prosecution.

The case against Pete Bulger, charged with selling liquor without a license, was continued until next term and a capias issued for his appearance. Frank Campbell, colored, alleged to be the partner of Bulger, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined 30 days in the county jail, and $100.

Mrs. Funkhouser, Mrs. Sallie Funkhouser, of Tolu, was indicted by the grand jury on charges of using the mails to black mail Harmon Hanney and J. P. Harris, and at first she pleaded "not guilty," but later pleaded guilty to one offense and was fined $50, and the other two charges were filed away.

Ed Sergeant, postmaster at Little Cypress, was fined $50 for making a false report of the postoffice to the government.

W. H. Wyatt and W. W. Harper, on charge of presenting false reports and approval to the postoffice department, were fined $15 on motion of the prosecution.

William Hamilton, the trustee at the county jail, who broke open United States mails pleaded guilty and was fined $100 on one charge.

PLAN JAIL DELIVERY.

Nashville, Tenn., April 19.—Developments at Waverly tend to confirm the belief of officials that a jail delivery was planned by the prisoners and their sympathizers last night, and that the attempt was foiled only by the presence of the state troops. One of the prisoners who will be a state's witness, states to Attorney General Bowman that while he lay asleep in his corner of the cell he overheard fragments of the plans of the others to escape. He could not catch the details, but he later heard them make a compact to kill him and he was approached two or three times in the night by the man who agreed to do the work. He was awake at each visit and remained awake until daylight, when he told the sheriff. The latter searched the jail again and found the knife with which the witness says his throat was to have been cut. The sheriff and his guards, both deputies and soldiers, have redoubled their vigilance and the prisoners will be more closely guarded than ever.

Tomorrow will mark the beginning of the trials of the men charged with the assault while masked on Justice J. M. Reese last October. Two hundred veniremen will be examined today for the jury, or as many as possible.

FREIGHT WRECK.

Grand Rapids, April 19.—Three men were killed and one seriously injured, when an east-bound Grand Trunk freight train ran into a washout near Fuller station, at 5:30 this morning.

TEXAS LUCK.

Dallas, Tex., April 19.—United States Judge Bryant at Beaumont today vacated the federal receivership in the Water-Pierce Oil company. He ordered the property given to the state. Chairman Wilcox, of the state committee of finance, says the company's fine will reduce the state tax rate to only one cent on the $100 valuation of property.

Circuit Court.

April term of circuit court began this morning at the court house with the Hon. William Reed on the bench. Owing to the federal court being in session, the session was short this morning, and Judge Reed adjourned court until tomorrow morning. No cases of importance will be taken up until the session of federal court has adjourned.

The grand jury was empaneled this morning. In his charge Judge Reed admonished them to make a thorough investigation of any violation of law in the county. The grand jurors are: W. R. Holland, foreman; J. A. Dickerson, W. T. Pepper, Jesse Bell, J. W. Leigh, E. P. Gilson, J. W. Hart, Samuel Plumb, T. E. Ford, William Lydon, H. P. Hawkins, and J. M. Martin. The petit jurors will be empaneled tomorrow morning.

The case of the state against Ike Cohen, a pawnbroker, charged with conducting a business without a state license was dismissed, as he produced a receipt.

On request of attorneys, Mrs. Lizie Ford was appointed examiner for McCracken county with an office in the city hall.

London, April 19.—After throwing an advance guard in Pera and Galata, suburb Constantinople, to protect the lives of foreigners, the main body of the Young Turks' army will march on Yildiz Kiosk and demand the surrender and abdication of the sultan, according to a telegram today from Constantinople. The telegram says the Young Turks' advance against the capital reached the outskirts of the city. The advance guard is under orders to occupy Pera and Galata immediately.

Massacres Continue.

Constantinople, April 19.—Despite the fact that telegraph service with Adana has been resumed, little news is being received and it is stated that nearly all the telegraph operators were killed. Massacres are still in progress throughout the district.

The next outbreak is expected at Alexandrette. Advances received from there today state the entire Christian population gathered at the Christian residence quarters. Barricades are being erected and they are preparing to defend themselves against the Musselm invaders. Serious disorders are reported at Smyrna. Eight foreign warships are hastening to Turkish waters.

While dispatches from different parts of Asiatic Turkey say chaotic conditions and massacres continue the authorities today made an official statement, declaring "conditions in Asia are somewhat improved."

Passion Play's Victim

Mexico City, April 19.—Tiburcio Seambriano, a Tuxpan Indian, is dead as the result of being nailed to a cross during the annual presentation of the Passion Play. When the moment for crucifixion came, Seambriano insisted, instead of being tied to the cross as customary, that he be nailed. The religious fever was high and other actors secured nails and drove them through his hands and feet. The nails were rusty and lockjaw resulted.

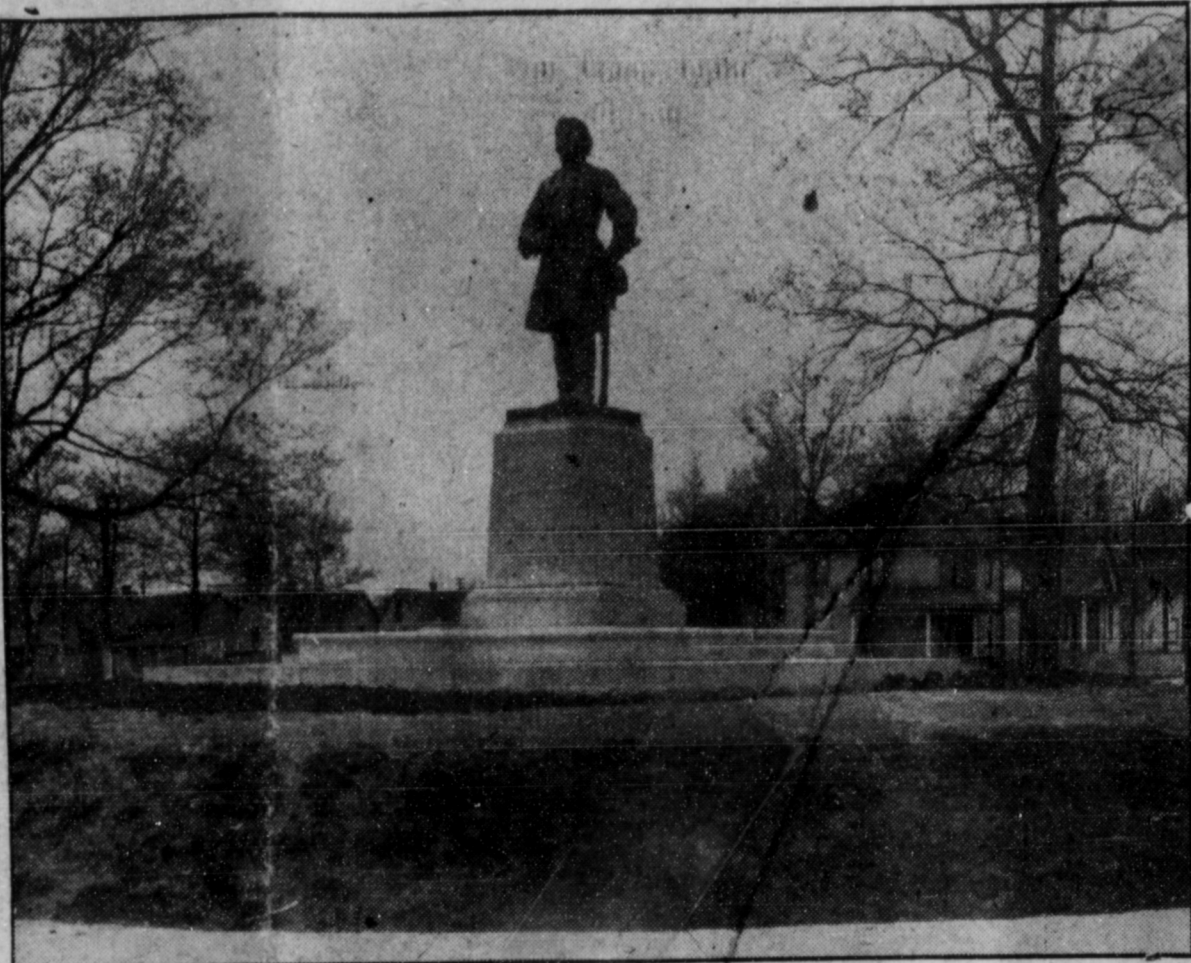

Seeking Daughter

C. O. Aden, of Perks, was in the city this afternoon looking for his daughter, Lucy Myrtle Aden, 16 years old, who is thought to have runaway from home with John Cagle with the intention of marrying him. Aden says he traced the couple to Paducah. This morning a couple giving the names of Arthur Goley and Nellie Woodward, of Marlon, Ill., were married by County Judge Lightfoot. The girl answered the description of Aden's daughter, and he says he was not acquainted with Cagle, who may be Goley. Aden had not located the couple at 3 o'clock, but he was watching the railroad station and the wharf.

CHICAGO BAKERS FORCED TO WALL BY WHEAT PRICE

Chicago, April 19.—Unless something happens soon to change the wheat and flour situation, bread not only will go to seven cents a loaf but several scores of bakers will be forced to the wall. Fifty already have failed and their doors closed. As many others are near the breaking point. The price of bread must advance, said Mathias Schmidinger, of the Master Bakers association. The increase in the price of flour and the strict enforcement of the sanitary regulations of the city already have driven 50 small bakeries to close.

Chicago, April 19.—Declaring he has been made a scapegoat and that the public persistently refused to be enlightened regarding the wheat situation, James A. Patten today announced he will cease to take the public into his confidence. "No more interviews," he said, and referred sarcastically to ministers who yesterday denounced him for his recent speculation.

Texas Bakers Act.

San Antonio, April 19.—The state convention of bakers will meet here tomorrow. It is expected they will take definite action about the raise in price of flour throughout Texas. It is believed a change of some sort will be made in the selling system, but consumers will not be allowed to suffer.

ALDRICH DEFENDS TARIFF BILL AND TALKS ECONOMY

Washington, April 19.—Senator Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, opened the tariff debate in the senate today. He expressed the utmost confidence that the schedules of the Payne tariff bill, as amended, would raise all the revenues needed for public expenses on a liberal scale. He declared the expenses of government will be considerably reduced and pleaded to give the new measure a trial before resorting to special taxation.

Regarding the belief that expenditures can be reduced from unprecedented extravagance last year, Aldrich said from investigation he is satisfied the appropriation last year could have been reduced at least $50,000,000 without impairing the efficiency of public service. The past few years we have created many unnecessary bureaus and multiple agencies beyond the possibility of doing any more work. Extravagant and appropriations are being made.

MOB HANGS CATTLEMEN FOR MURDER

Four of Them Taken From Oklahoma Jail and Lynched.

Their Victim Was Deputy U.
S. Marshal.

THEY SPARE ONE YOUTH

Oklahoma City, April 19.—Mob of 100 men, lynched J. B. Miller, B. B. Benwell, Jesse West and J. Allen, millionaire cattle men of Canadian, Texas, at 3 o'clock this morning at Ada, Okla. They were held for the murder of United States Marshal A. A. Bobbitt, February 27. There is intense excitement. A deputy sheriff was assaulted by a mob.

After overpowering the jailer, a mob of 100 masked men removed Jesse West, Joe Allen, B. B. Benwell, J. B. Miller, at 3 o'clock this morning and took them to a barn in the rear of the jail and hung them to rafters for the alleged murder of Marshal Bobbitt, who was killed as the result of an old grudge.

It is alleged Miller was employed by the others to commit the murder. Oscar Beeler, a boy, was implicated but the mob was lenient when he promised to make a clean breast of the story. The men were in jail a month. Their preliminary hearing was held last Thursday.

All is quiet today. The mob dispersed quietly after the lynching. Jailer Goen and Bob Neeter and an extra guard were disarmed by the mob and tied. Miller heard the mob coming and sounded the alarm, which caused confusion in the cells. The four men were removed quietly.

West struggled. "Come on boys," the leader said, as they took the men to the barn, surrounded by the mob. He took the men in and without any opportunity to make statements the men were suspended. The leaders had their faces partially muffled with a handkerchief. It is not known who took the charge of removing the men from the jail and hanging them. The rest of the mob acted as guards.

An investigation is in progress this morning. Jailer Goen and Neeter are unable to identify the men who tied them. The feeling of the community was strong against the accused men Saturday. At the preliminary hearing Thursday, John Williamson, nephew of Miller, testified that Miller hired the murder of Bobbitt.

Known as Bad Men.

Fort Worth, Texas, April 19.—The four men lynched at Ada are well known throughout Texas. Allen and West had large holdings near Canadian. Miller was a Ft. Worth citizen. He had a reputation as a "bad man." He is said to have killed 20 men. He was also a big cattle owner. He killed James Fore here a short time ago in the Delaware hotel. Bobbitt compelled West and Allen to flee from Oklahoma years ago. A feud resulted.

Night Riders Again.

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 19.—(Special)—Fire, started by night riders, destroyed the barn and contents of Walter Meacham, near Kirksmansville.

SCRAPED TOBACCO PLANT BED

Montgomery County (Tenn.) Planter Victim of Night Riders.

Nashville, Tenn., April 19.—Unknown parties visited the farm of John Morrow, in Montgomery county Tennessee, and scraped his tobacco plant bed, which amounted to 1,000 square yards. After rumpaging the bed the men replaced the canvass, thus concealing their work for several days.

The plant beds of several other planters in the same neighborhood have recently been scraped.

Beet Sugar.
The beet sugar industry is growing in California. Eleven factories consume 9,700 tons of beets in a year. Alkaline soil seems peculiarly adapted to their growth, as it has been found that the salts and solids in the ground are collected in the tops and after a few crops the soil is so enriched as to grow anything. This beet grows to a great size, some specimens weighing as much as fifty pounds. One factory expects to produce 20,000,000 pounds of sugar this year. The tops sheared off close to the ground are fed to cattle with profit. The by-product from the molasses is alcohol.

Ely's Cream Balm has been tried and not found wanting in thousands of homes all over the country. It has won a place in the family medicine chest among the reliable household remedies, where it is kept at hand for use in treating cold in the head just as soon as some member of the household begins the preliminary sneezing or snuffling. It gives immediate relief and a day or two's treatment will put a top to a cold which might, if not checked, become chronic and run into a bad case of catarrh.

FIRE ENTRAPS WORKING GIRLS

Panic, However Does Not Result in Any Injured.

Girls Bravely Made Their Way Down Fire Escapes—150 On Upper Floor When Fire Started.

ELEVATOR MAN IS THE HERO

New York, April 19.—Fire in the Empire building at Broadway and Bleeker street entrapped 125 girls working on one of the upper floors. All were rescued, however, the elevator man in the building running the car repeatedly through the smoke and flames and carrying the young women down, others fleeing down the fire escapes, reaching the street unharmed. The fire was quickly extinguished and did little damage.

The fire started in a stock of feathers on the first floor and was not detected at once. On the tenth floor, the top, 150 girls were at work. The dense smoke from the burning feathers was carried quickly up the elevator shaft, which was open, and at the bottom of which was Tony Sarino, the elevator boy, and his car. He knew nothing of the fire until aroused by the screams from the girls who were imprisoned by the smoke, which filled the elevator shaft and the stairs.

Sarino shot his car through the smoke to the top of the shaft and bravely made more than a half dozen trips to the street, bringing many of the girls to safety. Others of the girls were brave enough to descend by the fire escapes.

Broadway was quickly jammed by a dense crowd that watched the girls come down the fire escapes and later saw the girls whom Sarino had rescued surround him, kissing and hugging him for saving them.

The firemen made short work of the blaze. They believed it was started by a lighted cigarette being thrown into a lot of feathers.

Corrected Too Late.

A well known Brooklyn physician was examining a class of nurses who had served their appointed time in the hospital. The candidates filed past him, and to each he addressed a question calculated to show the nurse's efficiency. In one of the questions he described the condition of a patient and asked the nurse how much morphine, in her opinion, should be administered to the sufferer.

"Eight grains," promptly replied the nurse.

The doctor made no comment, and she passed on. When her turn came again she appeared greatly confused, and said to the examiner: "Doctor, I wish to correct the answer I made last time. I meant to say that one-eighth of a grain should be given to the patient."

"Too late," remarked Dr. Matheson, without looking up from his question paper. "The man's dead."

Let Him Have It.
When one of Uncle Sam's sailors, a man named Gordon, formerly serving on one of our vessels in a West Indian squadron, was taken to the Naval hospital in Washington he described with gruesome vividness to his companions there his adventure with a shark off one of the islands in the West Indies.

"I had just fell over the bulwarks," said the able seaman, "when along comes a big shark and grabs me by the leg."

"What did you do then, matey?" asked one of the patients.

"I never disputes none with sharks," said the sailor. "I let him have the leg."

"No, but he's ceased to be scared when I have hysterics."

ACRES OF POWDER FILLER DISCOVERED IN NORTHWEST.

Spokane, Wash.—Development of 40 acres of randidite earth near Blue Creek, Stevens county, Washington, north of Spokane, where experts say are deposits which will yield more than 2,000,000 tons of this rare substance, used as a filler for high explosives, is the first step in the fight to be waged in the Pacific northwest against the powder trust. Dr. J. M. Gooding, of Spokane, who, with his associates in this city and Wallace, Idaho, owns the land where the randidite was discovered by accident a short time ago, declares this is the only known body in existence.

Chemists report that it is a perfect absorbent and say it will make blasting and gran powder much safer and cheaper than the standard brands. Experiments have been made with randidite and they are satisfactory. This substance is the place of choice for making dynamite.

Anxiety Ill-Timed.

Howard DuBois, the noted mining engineer, told a good story to the Tech. men recently illustrating the "art" of salting a diamond mine. The story was told of a man in South Africa who while walking one day over his property suggested that they assay some of the soil.

In the search that ensued eight rough diamonds were found and offers began to fly through the air at a rapid rate for the land, when the host's wife called out to her husbands, "Why, John, where are the other two?" The sequel of the story was left to the imagination.—Boston Record.

London's Doubtful Growth.

While the statistics of New York's growth continue to startle the world, London has stopped growing. Within the last seven years the annual birth rate has dropped 8 per cent, the number of children in school has declined about 2 per cent and the number of paupers in the city has increased 15 per cent. In the meantime the assessed valuation has advanced only 17 per cent, while the debt has increased 110 per cent.—World's Work.

ARE FIGHTING THEATRE TRUST

Anderson-Ziegler Co. Buys Real Estate.

Has Joined Shuberts—In Future Will Oppose the Klaw and Erlanger Combination—Open Door.

IS EXPECTED TO WIN OUT.

Cincinnati, April 19.—There was placed on record in the court house today a lease from Louis J. Hauck and Mrs. Emily Helme to the Anderson-Ziegler Theater company for the property immediately adjoining the Columbia theater, with privilege of purchase at $110,000. This is the second piece of property the Anderson-Ziegler company has acquired on Walnut street within the past few weeks.

Today the Anderson-Ziegler company announced their intention of organizing a subsidiary company for the purpose of erecting a number of 5 and 10 cent theaters in several cities in cooperation with the Western Vaudeville Managers' association of Chicago, which association at a meeting last week concluded to enter actively into that branch of the business.

There will be another meeting of these allied interests in Chicago next week.

The Anderson-Ziegler company is associated with the Shuberts in the fight with the Klaw and Erlanger combination.

"We will win in the 'open door' policy in our fight against the Klaw and Erlanger combine," said H. M. Ziegler to an Associated Press representative today. "The Shuberts now have secured a house in Denver, one in Salt Lake, one in Sacramento and one in Los Angeles, besides other Pacific coast houses they have formerly controlled. They have one in Omaha. Now they will not be required to make a single jump from the Missouri river to the Pacific coast."

The Anderson-Ziegler company itself controls three houses in Cincinnati, two in Indianapolis, two in Louisville and is interested in the Majestic, the Haymarket and the Olympic in Chicago.

WALLERSTEINS

WIN FROM INVINCIBLES IN SUNDAY GAME.

First Contest on Diamond Results in Score of Nine to Four.

In a well played baseball game yesterday afternoon the Wallerstein team won from the Invincibles by the score of 9 to 4. Both teams played good ball, but the Wallerstein team led in hitting as eleven safe drives were secured to four hits for the Invincibles. The features of the game was a home run drive of R. Mercer, while G. Yopp's base stealing was good. He stole six bases. The batteries were: Wallerstein—Morthland and H. Mercer; Invincibles—Switzer and Cathey.

The Wallerstein baseball team will be ready for games with all teams of its class. The team has some good players, and will put up a good argument. The line-up is: H. Mercer, C; E. Elliott, p; G. Yopp, 1b; O. Hoflich, 2b; R. Mercer, 3b; G. Katterjohn, ss; G. J. Morthland, rf; T. Mc Garrigal, cf; and M. Anderson, lf. G. J. Morthland is manager, and H. Mercer captain.

"Fluffy Ruffies" Win.

The "Fluffy Ruffies" baseball team defeated the Jackson street team yesterday afternoon by a score of 12 to 8 at the Illinois Central diamond. The batteries were Shaw and Lamore for the "Fluffy Ruffies" and Switzer and Cox for the Jackson streets. Another game will be played next Sunday afternoon.

Anty Drudge's Cure for the Blues.

Anty Drudge—"Won't you come home to tea with me, children?"

John—"Come on, Sally, you have had the blues all day. A little fresh air will do you good."

Mrs. Hardway—"No. I have to get up early to-morrow and get at the washing, so I want to get to bed early to-night."

Anty Drudge—"Of all silly creatures! I suppose you have been thinking about your washing all day. No wonder you are blue. Now just go and put your things on right away. When you get down to my house I will give you a few cakes of Fels-Naptha and your blues and blue Mondays will vanish forever, and John's only day home will be more pleasant in the future."

Isn't a short, smooth road better than a roundabout, rocky one?

Isn't that the road you would take by preference?

Well, the shorter, easier, smoother road in washing clothes is the Fels-Naptha way.

No rocks in your path; no boiling, hot fires, steaming suds, or hard rubbing.

Fels-Naptha banishes the disagreeable part of washing, takes out the backache, cuts the time to half, and makes the clothes cleaner and whiter than it is possible by the old-fashioned way.

ENGLISH WOMEN TO BE TAUGHT LOVING

A "School of Love" is London's latest. No correspondence system has been inaugurated, but it will come.

The beautiful old oak-paneled Fortune Playhouse in Brewer street is to become a School of Love, and Madame de Perrot, a fascinating French woman, is going to give her English sisters weekly lectures on the art of love-making all through the London season.

Rank and fashion sat at the feet of Madame de Perrot, who has eloquence and the art of the elocutionist at her command, at the Ritz Hotel, last season, when she lectured in French, but English is to be the language spoken at the Fortune Playhouse.

"So many brilliant and clever women in England seem to lack the charm of womanhood, and I want to tell them that the qualities of the heart have been uppermost in the greatest and most brilliant women of all times," explained Madame de Perrot. "Intellect, talent, accomplishments, wit are no barrier to charm, and to the power of loving and being loved."

"This is surely where the suffragettes make a mistake. They do not cultivate charm. The other day at the British Museum a young lady knocked into me as she passed. 'Pardon me,' I said to her, 'but may I ask a question? Are you a suffragette?' 'Why, yes,' she said; 'how did you know? Are you one?' 'Because you have such manly manners, mademoiselle,' I said.

"English women have had no opportunity of hearing some of the great French love stories. There is no good translation, for instance, of the love letters of Heloise and Abelard, which are in Latin. What there is is but the shadow of the real Heloise. Later I will tell the love stories of the women of the French Revolution, a fascinating record."

Frightful Fate Averted.

"I would have been a cripple for life, from a terrible cut on my knee cap," writes Frank Disberry, Kellher, Minn., "without Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which soon cured me." Infallible for wounds, cuts and bruises, it soon cures Burns, Scalds, Old Sores, Boils, Skin Eruptions. World's best for Piles. 25c at all druggists.

SALOON FIRE

CAUSES DAMAGE OVER MEOCA
FOURTH AND KENTUCKY.

Councilman McCarthy Kicks Over Lamp, Accidentally, and Causes Blaze.

Damage to the extent of about $800 was done Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock on the second floor of the Meoca saloon, Fourth street and Kentucky avenue. The fire originated in the kitchen above the saloon, and when the flames broke out the entire rear of the attic was burning. A dense smoke made the fire hard to battle, but the firemen under the direction of Chief Wood, smothered the fire.

The saloon below was damaged by water, as was the plumbing shop of Ed D. Hannan. Smoke slightly damaged the wall paper store of Kelly & Umbaugh. The front of the second floor is divided into bedrooms, but they were not damaged except by the smoke. No one was asleep in the room, or the chances were he would have been overcome with the smoke. While fighting the fire the firemen were nearly suffocated by the smoke.

The fire was discovered when the blaze broke out the windows. Hose company No. 1 and truck company, No. 1, responded, and got the blaze under control, before the arrival of hose company, No. 4, and truck company, No. 2, which answered the second alarm. The building is the property of Dr. Frank Boyd, and the loss is covered by insurance.

Fireman Fred Muentzler carried one nozzle and he was burned about the neck and face, but his injuries are not serious, and he continued on duty.

Kicked Over Lamp.

While asleep Councilman J. K. P. McCarthy knocked over a lamp at his residence, 1519 Broad street, and the lamp exploded. The bed clothing caught fire, but Mr. McCarthy left the bed before he was burned. The loss will amount to about $50. Fire companies, Nos. 2 and 4, answered the alarm.

HENRY DIEHL SR.

PASSES AWAY OF KIDNEY TROUBLE AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

After a week's serious illness, Mr. Henry Diehl, Sr., 74 years old, died Saturday night at 6:40 o'clock at his home, 312 South Third street, of kidney trouble. His death was expected. Since Friday he was in a critical condition. Although he had been in feeble health for several months he was not compelled to take to his bed until last week. About eighteen months ago he slipped, and broke his leg, and never regained his normal health.

Mr. Diehl was a substantial citizen, and was one of the pioneer shoe dealers in the city. He was born in Hesselndarmstadt, Germany, but removed to the United States in 1862. After a few years he came to Paducah and located, and he purchased the business of Matthew Lehrer. He and his son have conducted the business without a change in the firm's name. Mr. Diehl was a modest man, but had many friends.

Two children, Mrs. Sherman Phillips, and Henry Diehl, Jr., both of Paducah, survive Mr. Diehl. Mr. John Lehrer, who was associated in business with Mr. Diehl, and Mrs. Louis Petter, were step-children.

The funeral took place this afternoon at the German Lutheran church, of which Mr. Diehl was a consistent member. The burial was in Oak Grove cemetery. The Rev. William Grother conducted the service.

Honorary pall bearers are: H. Mammion, Sr., Frank Kirchoff, Sr., Don Gilberto, Henry Gockel, Sr., Peter Hank and Leopold Petter.

Active pall-bearers are: Henry Runge, Fred Kreutzer, Augustus Unrath, Ed Thurman, Henry Kirchoff and William Dunbar.

Mrs. Cora Perdue.

Mrs. Cora Perdue, 33 years old, died Saturday night at 10 o'clock at her home on South Thirteenth street, after a long illness with tuberculosis. She was a popular matron with many friends. Besides her husband, Joseph Perdue, two children, Liddle and Leroy are left. Five brothers survive. She was an active member of the North Twelfth Street Baptist church, and her funeral took place yesterday afternoon at the church with burial in Oak Grove cemetery. The Rev. J. R. Clark conducted the Daily Thought.

Taking a bypath to avoid duty we are sure to meet our deserts.

Nashville students were suspended from school for attending a circus. How much better it would have been to suspend school during the circus.

Chattanooga is demanding a commission government.

"Young Turks" is a term used to distinguish them from the tough old Turks, who rule the roost.

Again we call to the attention of the general council, the fact that the city is running behind with its revenue, and it is the fault of the general council; because the city is paying no one to act as license inspector.

While we are cleaning up, would it not be a good idea to clean up the river front and redeem the street along the levee from Jefferson street to Kentucky avenue? Large parties of excursionists go up the Ohio and Tennessee rivers past here and back again every week, and most of them necessarily judge Paducah from her river front. We must remember the river does not run past the rear of our promises, but that Paducah fronts the river.

The Sun, always eager to get all the news, get it accurate and get it first, sends its reporters to meetings, so as to insure first hand information. Yet, we never fully appreciated the aggravation of an inaccurate account until yesterday, when we read the News-Democrat's report of the fiscal court meeting. The only true statement in the report was, by implication, that a reporter for The Sun was present. If the News-Democrat would always have a reporter at meetings, no one could string the paper that way.

THE TARIFF SITUATION.

If the Democrats in congress would vote along the principles on which they were elected, the tariff on all necessities of life would be equitably adjusted, and the principle of protection would not be extended to cover all commodities for the benefit of traffickers. It was the inability of the minority to stand together that prevented reform of the house rules. When the Republican insurgents stood by their guns, Joe Cannon just bought up enough Democratic congressmen with committee places to win with. The Democrats have failed to caucus on the tariff in either house. The representatives state frankly that they want a high tariff on the commodities produced in their districts. Some Republicans must be expected to stand by the organization of the house and senate through thick and thin. We don't commend them, but we expect it. If the Democrats cannot be depended upon to stand by their principles in this fight, it will avail independent Republicans in the senate and house little to get in the way of the combined force of Democrat and Republican high tariff devotees.

OLD FASHIONED RELIGION AND THE FAMILY DOCTOR.

An apom of the infinite truth for a word and a satirical allusion to human nature for argument, and you have a new cult, and people will nod their heads in approving assent to the truisms which the old fashioned family doctor has been telling them all their lives.

Hear a man in a pink kimono tell people that if they would arouse that "infinite intelligence" within them, which we call God, and say "I will get well," they will better their physical condition. Now listen to the old family doctor, and note the difference, and say which is preaching Christian doctrine and common sense.

The doctor comes into the sick room with a stethoscope, and talks about anything under the sun but the patient's condition. Then he tells the family that they must make the patient cheerful and keep his mind off himself, not on himself. If it is one of those peculiar complaints, not necessitating lying on a bed, the doctor may advise a sea voyage. Now, the doctor prescribes the sea voyage, because he knows when the ship leaves shore, the patient will realize his inability to keep in touch with his affairs and will relax, that the strange surroundings will keep his attention off himself, and that he will stay on deck in the open air. Any doctor will tell you how you can get well without the use of medicines, if you will take the time and follow directions. For instance, if you are an office worker, the doctor may tell you that you should get a job on a farm. You wouldn't do that, of course. That is the reason doctors give you medicine, and all systems of philosophy, based on atomic truth, flourish for a day and are cut down.

Now, which is the nearer Christianity, the doctor, who says take the patient's mind off himself, or the cult which says think about yourself all the time, and make your religion a specific for chilblain and cramp colic? If the philosophy, which keeps repeating "my" and "I", and directing one's attention inward, does not develop the "ego" in one, we are at a loss to comprehend it. Christianity teaches altruism; Christianity teaches us to forget ourselves and lose our lives in sacrifice for others, not to think of ourselves continually.

Give us the old fashioned religion and the family doctor. They both seem to meet the defects in human nature, which has not changed a particle since the days of Adam. All the people we ever knew that tried to think themselves into demi-gods, thought themselves into the madhouse.

Editor Evening Sun:

In your issue of Saturday, "Spectator" gives expression to his opinion of the integrity and intelligence of the members of the late Commercial club. FIRE

DAMAGES SEVERAL SMALL HOUSES THIS MORNING.

Fire Department has Hard Fight to Save Row of Residences in City.

Five houses of the "gunbarrel" variety were destroyed partially by fire this morning about 2 o'clock by a blaze that originated in the home of Palmer, colored, 1507 Clay street. The fire started from an exploding oil lamp, and the fire spread to all parts of the house. Hose company, No. 3, and truck company, No. 4, answered an alarm, and with two streams subdued the blaze although the wind was blowing.

The Palmer house was burned so that the walls caved in the rear, and the roofs of three other houses were burned off, and part of the roof of the 1th house. The houses are built close together and it was easy for the flames to leap from roof to roof. Then the wind aided as the sparks were carried two squares and set fire to roofs, but the fire was extinguished without loss, by the owners.

All of the household goods in the Palmer house were destroyed and the occupants had a narrow escape as they did not know the house was on fire until the walls crashed in. The loss will amount to about $1,000.

BUOYANT NOTE IN STOCK MARKET

Main Influences Are Easily Ascertained.

Optimistic Trend of Trade Both in Internal and Export Business.

HENRY CLEWS' WEEKLY LETTER

New York, April 19. (Special.)—Speculation for the rise has been more active, and at times a decidedly buoyant feeling was displayed in the stock market. Easy money, increasing activity of business and lessened anxiety regarding tariff legislation were the main influences at work. Of these cheap money was of course the most important. Idle funds are accumulating and bankers have extreme difficulty in finding satisfactory employment for deposits left in their charge. While such ease has its encouraging features, especially as any good borrower can now secure ample funds for legitimate purposes, still there is the double danger of either unduly stimulating speculation or fostering an imprudent granting of credit; two evils that would surely invite unpleasant consequences later on. At the moment, however, an optimistic tone prevails in Wall street which is being skillfully encouraged by market leaders. Europe is also taking part, especially London, where money is unusually easy, and the prevalent disposition seems to favor speculation in American securities. On this side of the Atlantic the ease in money has of course intensified by our currency system, making it impossible to call in a sufficient amount of notes in case of such redundancy as now exists. Nevertheless, with an elastic currency system even at this time money would inevitably be cheap that being a universal condition in all the world's financial centers because of the general inactivity of trade. The demand for monetary accommodations has declined in all parts of the world, and this is the main reason for low interest rates. The large increase in gold supply has had something to do with this condition, but it remains to be seen whether the present supply of gold will be excessive when the world's trade regains normal proportions and the increased consumption of the arts are taken into consideration.

In business circles there are continued signs of revival. This is particularly true of the building trades in which there is much activity in the erection of large buildings resulting from cheap money, lower raw materials and increased efficiency of labor. There is also much activity in the structural department of the steel industry. The railroads are now placing orders more freely, and it is not improbable that April will be a record-breaking month in structural material orders. Of course, prices are exceedingly low and in many cases profit has been reduced to a minimum. As a result economies are being enforced in every direction, sometimes by lessening the force, sometimes by lowering wages. Another sign of activity is shown in the large purchases for wool by manufacturers who see orders ahead. The cotton industry is also in satisfactory condition; the retail dry goods trade is becoming more active, and on all sides signs are multiplying that we have turned the corner and that better times are ahead. It is not to be supposed that the period of readjustment is ended—that must go on; because in many cases prices of commodities are still upon too high a plane. But the lesson is being taught that prosperity is possible upon a lower basis, a condition which is really more desirable because more stable and also more equitable when the necessities of life can be had at more reasonable cost. The tariff question is now out of the way as a stock market factor, and cannot even disturb general trade very severely, as no harmful changes in the schedules are expected.

Foreign Trade.

Our foreign trade returns for March were not without encouraging features. The total value of merchandise imports last month was $133,490,000, probably the largest March on record. Imports were somewhat stimulated by the desire to anticipate the tariff, though in some instances they were checked by expectations of a lowering of rates. The satisfactory feature of our imports, however, was the large increase in the arrivals of raw materials, indicating that our manufacturers are preparing themselves for business recovery. Our exports of merchandise in March were valued at only $139,200,000, the smallest March since 1905. This decline was due to the falling off in our shipments of agricultural products, which is to be regretted. In this connection the speculation in wheat and cotton is also unfortunate. Unless we have good crops this fall and can export either farm products or securities we must expect to lose considerable sums of gold during the current year. Our excess of merchandise exports in March was only $5,700,000, compared with $52,400,000 same time last year. Meanwhile our net exports of gold during the month were $16,000,000, against net imports of $2,000,000 a year ago.

Outlook.

The outlook for the stock market suggests increasing activity with tendency to still higher prices, especially for the clipped-backed properties and sound dividend payers, accompanied by frequent reactions. There has been considerable realizing and the disposition appears to be to take profits on every sharp advance. As yet there are no overexpanded bull accounts, and the speculative situation is sounder than usual. Easy money, which, as already said, is a powerful factor in the situation, promises to continue until the demand for crops begins at the summer's end. All things considered the future may be regarded as clearer and more encouraging than at any time since the panic. The disturbances in Turkey, however, will require watching, since they may easily become serious and provoke international difficulties to which the European bourses are so sensitive. No permanent injury to our market could come from this source, but it might easily cause temporary unsettlement.

AT THE CHURCHES

Grace Episcopal.

"I Shall Not Die, But Live to Declare the Works of the Lord." Psalms XVIII, 17.

This text was explained by the Rev. D. C. Wright at Grace Episcopal church yesterday morning in its historical and spiritual meaning. It was written, either at the laying of the corner stone or at the dedication of the temple, and it probably was suggested by seeing the builders inspect over again a stone, which had been rejected, and place it as the keystone of the arch. It was significant to the Psalmist of the rise of his nation. Christ repeatedly used the text as referring to his resurrection and the perpetuity of his church. Then Dr. Wright recited the history of the Christian church, the persecutions, the rise and fall of infidelity, the wave of immorality, the decay of faith in Europe, and all the successive attacks on the church outside and in, and the regeneration which always succeeded the attack. Today he said many men, outside the church, worship God and bow the knee in education of the divinity. Why and in what respect the church has not kept pace with the growth of the Christian spirit, he reserved for a later discussion.

First Christian Church.

There were twenty men in the men's Bible class Sunday morning at the First Christian and much interest was manifested in the discussion of the lesson of the day. There was a large attendance at Sunday school.

At the regular morning service Dr. Moore spoke on "A Disciple's Vision of His Lord," based on Rev. 1:10—"I was in the Spirit on the Lord's Day, and heard behind me a Great Voice as of a Trumpet." The thought was, that in order to have a clear faith vision of Jesus the worshiper must be in the spirit of worship—spirit filled. John's vision of Jesus, and his description of it is one of transcendent beauty. The soul, when ere support with God, desires to see Jesus only. Only the pure in heart can see God. Close attention was given the sermon by the large congregation present. There was one addition to the membership of the church. The Men's club meets this evening at 7:45. Address by Dr. H. P. Sights.

Change in Police.
Where two patrolmen work a single beat the plan of having them report by telephone to the police station every 30 minutes instead of every hour has been adopted. Patrolman Lige Cross, who has been on the duty watch, has resumed his duties as sergeant, while Sergeant Emile Goutiaux is walking the beat again.

Singer Talks

Singer First Cost is the Whole Cost

Of course you can buy a sewing machine for less money than you would pay for a Singer—all the world knows that. But consider this: When a Singer is bought and paid for, it is paid for—it lasts a lifetime.

A cheap machine is never paid for. Every cent expended for repairs must be added to the original cost—it's an endless system of instalments. These instalments, added to the first cost of the machine, soon exceed the cost of a Singer, and after each successive repair (if you can get another part) the cheap machine grows more and more second-hand—one step nearer the junk heap.

The time lost, the trouble and the worry outweigh many times over the difference in the cost between the "cheap" machine and the Singer.

There are two kinds of machines—good and bad—and the good kind is the Singer.

A CRACKER FARMER

You Can Interpret the Word "Cracker" in Two Ways.

The best farmer that I have ever seen in Florida is a Cracker, says a writer in Outing. With all the peculiarities of his class he is a careful observer and quick to apply what lessons he learns.
This man runs a milk route, manages several large orange groves and does a good deal of truck gardening in the bargain. His judgment is inquisitive but quick and decisive, and his speech is something of the same sort. Roused from their apathy the Crackers make a sort of a Southern Yankee.
With this exception the most enterprising native that I have ever discovered is a coal black African. Caesar is highly respected by all classes, for his forceful and prompt and every way executive tact. Our lakes constitute sounding boards and you can hear this fellow half a mile away talking to his mules as he ploughs, alternately singing a negro melody.
Just at this moment I hear him shout: "Yop old fool mule! Can't you see youse all wrong there? I sure is ashamed of any mule that can't run a straight furrow!" Then another melody rises over the water, followed and interlarded with more objurgations.

Not The Right Boy

Word was received from Hopkinsville today that James Estes, the boy who was decoyed away from Birmingham, Ala., was being held there; but it was discovered, when an effort was made to identify him, that the right boy had not been found. The boy was not on the houseboat near Orden's Landing.

Kerosene.
"Kerosene" seems to have been first used in United States patent No. 12,612, of March 17, 1855, granted to Abraham Gesner, of Williamsburg, N. Y., and assigned to the North American Kerosene Gas Light company. In the preamble to his specifications Gesner states that he has "invented and discovered a new and useful manufacture or composition of matter, being a new liquid hydrocarbon which I denominate 'kerosene.' " "Coal oil" was the term in general use before "kerosene" was invented.

D. A. R. Gossip.

The National Congress Daughters of the American Revolution, in session in Washington this week, promises to be probably the most brilliant convention the Daughters have yet held, says an exchange, and already Washington is filled with charming and brilliant women, gathered from over the entire United States, to participate in the entertainments and the important work of electing a new president general to fill the office made vacant by the retirement of Mrs. Donald McLean. Sunday a number of important committee meetings were held and in the afternoon at 5 o'clock Vice President Sherman and Mrs. Sherman entertained at the New Willard in honor of Mrs. Williams Cummings Story, of New York, one of the popular candidates for the office of president general.
On Monday evening the Illinois chapter will give a banquet at the New Willard in honor of Mrs. Mathe W. Scott, of Bloomington, Ill., one of the candidates for president general. The election of Mrs. Scott is being urged by the six oldest chapters of the organization, who have sent out a card recommending it, and this is, indeed, high compliment. The chapters are the New York city chapter, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago chapters, and the John Marshall chapter, of Louisville. Mrs. Scott is a Kentuckian by birth, but is now living in Illinois.
On Monday morning the dedication of Continental hall will take place and this will be a most interesting ceremony, in which the Kentucky chapters are particularly interested. The charter members of the organization have been invited to act as an escort to Mrs. McLean and will be seated on the platform with her. They are the 1,000 first members, from over the United States, the organization now numbering over 6,700 members. On Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock the John Marshall chapter, of Louisville will dedicate one of the boxes in Continental hall, which they have purchased. Mrs. Ira Sayre Barnett was chairman of this committee, which selected a bronze tablet, on which is a wreath of laurel leaves. In the wreath of laurel leaves is the following inscription: "In Memory of the Ancestors of the John Marshall Chapter No. 4." The presentation speech will be made by Mrs. D. B. Sperry, regent of the chapter.
The pages to the congress will be given a charming souvenir at the end of the week, being a silver spoon bearing the insignia of the society. The pages from Kentucky are Miss Sarah Chenaunt, of Lexington; Misses Rebecca and Nancy Johnson, of Bardonia; Miss Mary Hogsett, of Danville; Miss Amy Green, of

Rule of the Sea.

That etiquette is observed among the fishermen that journey to the Fishing Banks was discovered by an amateur angler his first trip the other day.

The amateur hooked a codfish, but his line parted just as the fish was above the water. Back fell the codfish, carrying with him two sinkers and the hook.

Twenty minutes later another angler cried out that he had captured a cod with two sinkers and a hook. The amateur went up to the angler, who appeared to be an old salt, and asked for his hook and sinkers, which had his name stamped on them. He was surprised when the old salt told him to take the fish also.

According to the rules generally followed on the fishing boats the second angler was entitled to the fish, but the hook and sinkers should be returned to their owner. The old angler explained why he wanted to give up the fish.

It seems that he had followed the sea a great part of his life. When a young man he was a whaler, and according to whaling law a dead whale belongs to the ship whose name appears on the harpoon that killed it. Therefore the old salt figured that the amateur owned the codfish he had taken.

The Self-Sacrificing Sex.

"Ess," she coyly answered.

"Then give me the string," he commanded.

And she gave it without a murmur.—Lippincott's.

A World Court of Justice. That the submission to arbitration of the vexing Newfoundland fisheries dispute between this country and England has done much to revive interest in the Hague tribunal.

Romance of a Tablespoon and Its Moral.

They're going to be married very soon, and that is why they need a tablespoon, but when they're wedded they will need a set, and many other things they'll have to get. They'll buy their spoons and likewise forks and knives from stores that ADVERTISE to please young wives.

there can be no doubt. Before this case can come up, however, the Tribunal will meet on May 1, to try the Casa Blanca case between France and Germany; while other cases are reported to be pending in the shape of several American claims against Venezuela for which President Gomez has granted the arbitration Castro refused.

Doubtless a successful settlement of these questions will hasten the establishment of the court of arbitral justice proposed by the Hague conference of 1907—a court made up of salaried judges, holding regular sessions. It will be remembered that the Hague conference, failing to agree on an allotment of judges, drew up a complete code of procedure, and provided that any number of nations may establish the court for themselves by simply naming judges, other nations being free to join in like manner. The court is not to supplant but to supplement the present Hague tribunal. Mr.

Root has freely expressed his belief that the court can be put in operation before the third Hague conference, and Secretary Knox is reported to be favorable to the project. The recent record of the United States in arbitration may well encourage hope that the initiation may come from the United States—an event greatly to be desired.

Obligatory Arbitration. Mr. Root returned from the office of secretary of state with two score treaties of arbitration to his credit—an achievement of which any statesman might be proud. These treaties raised the number of similar pacts between different nations to about eighty, by which practically every nation of importance contracts to submit to arbitration disputes not involving its national honor. Sweeping as is the exception, the value of the treaties is great. Obligatory arbitration in certain classes of cases is directly recognized; and as the machinery of arbitration is improved, "national honor" will become less and less inclusive. The Hague tribunal is growing in influence. And the plans for a proposed court of arbitral justice await only the initiative of a few nations in appointing judges. Increased confidence in such agencies is almost sure to follow in proportion to their use.

And it is worth to remember that the Porter proposition adopted by The Hague conference at 1907, agreeing that force shall not be used to collect contract debts without an offer of arbitration is nothing less than universal arbitration of one class of cases.

Lake Mohonk Conference. The fifteenth annual Lake Mohonk conference on International arbitration which meets on the invitation of Mr. Albert K. Smiley, May 19-21, puts forth a strong program. The presence at Lake Mohonk year after year of many of the eminent men of this and other nations exerts a very considerable influence for world peace.

Whether the conference is, as the more radical peace advocates assert, "hiding its light under a bushel," in sticking to the subject of international arbitration and declining to meddle with the question of national armament, it succeeds in uniting its support of an essential branch of the peace movement many influential men whom the general peace societies cannot attract. And it may be better, after all, to lift all classes an inch than to elevate a few of them to a much greater height.

Armaments. Why this paradox of peace and armaments? The civilized world is at peace and never before were the peace societies so numerous or so active. Yet never, perhaps, has there been so great a race for immense armaments. Does it mean that our people are indifferent to sentiment or unmoved by the dollars and cents argument against naval expansion? Or do they demand armaments because they feel that no reliable substitute can yet be offered?

On the other hand are many peace societies denouncing the wickedness and folly and extravagance of more battleships and urging the United States to set an example by reducing its navy. On the other stands Richard Pearson Hobson with his "Practical Peace League" vehemently demanding an ever larger navy as a guarantee of peace. While midway between the two, the Interparliamentary Union and the Lake Mohonk conference are inclined to treat the subject as secondary, regarding armaments as results, rather than causes, and seeking to perfect the machinery of arbitration until it shall gradually displace most wars and atrophy excessive armament by making it unnecessary.

Just where lies the truth is difficult to say. Doubtless future Hague conferences will find some means of checking somewhat, by mutual agreement of all nations, the impoverishing increases of armament. But the work will be slow. Meanwhile sane discussion of the subject will hasten its solution. But radical exhortation concerning purely national armaments either of the Hobson or anti-Hobson type, is more likely to defeat than to accomplish anything of lasting value.

Backache, Headache

and other pains, all over a woman's body, are often caused by some, not well understood, female disease.

No one can tell just where female trouble will affect you. It acts in a different way on different people. Hence, treating the symptoms gives but little benefit, and the most successful method may be said to be the treatment of the cause—which you may do, by taking Cardui.

What Cardui has done for other women, it ought surely to do for you. Mrs. M. E. Allred, of Hartford, Wash., writes: "Ever since I was 16 years old, I have suffered from female troubles. I had headache, backache and other troubles, every month. Some two years ago, I began to use Cardui, and since then I have had no backache, my other troubles have stopped, I don't need any medicine, and I am well."

Ancient Luxury in Rome.

According to Guilelmo Ferrero, the Italian historian, the luxury of Rome, which older historians tell us sent that once effulgent nation to decay, could not be compared to the luxury to be found in the modern city. The eating places of old Rome were dingy compared with the modern New York restaurant, and Roman waste and profusion were regarded when compared with the ways the dwellers of the light side of a modern city spend their money and waste their substance. The richest Roman missed many of the luxuries of modern times now regarded almost as necessities. He had no electric lights, not even kerosene or gas. There were no automobiles or steam yachts. But the ancient Roman managed to eat too much, and drink too much and loaf too much, which are the real dangers of luxury. The trimmings and the settings are less important. It is those old vices which should be avoided more than extravagance of fine raiment or gold dishes, such as Rome never knew. The luxury to boggan may travel faster than it used to, or not so fast, but it is evident that it is still headed in the same direction.—Athenian Globe.

The power to comfort others does not come from consoling yourself.

Memory Studies. A small boy went into a South Boston drug store, wrinkled his face, rubbed his head and rubbed his left foot up and down his right leg in an effort to remember something that had escaped him.

"Say," he began, "will you tell me the name of the place where we Americans have so many soldiers?" "Fort Sheridan?"

"Oh, no; it's further away than that and a new place."

"The Philippines?"

"That ain't just it, but it's some where around there."

"Perhaps you mean Manila."

"Manila! That's right! I knew I would get it after a while. I want a bottle of Manila extract for flavoring. They're goin' to have ice cream."—Boston Record.

Specialist—Knot hole in the baseball fence last summer, madam.—Cleveland Magazine.

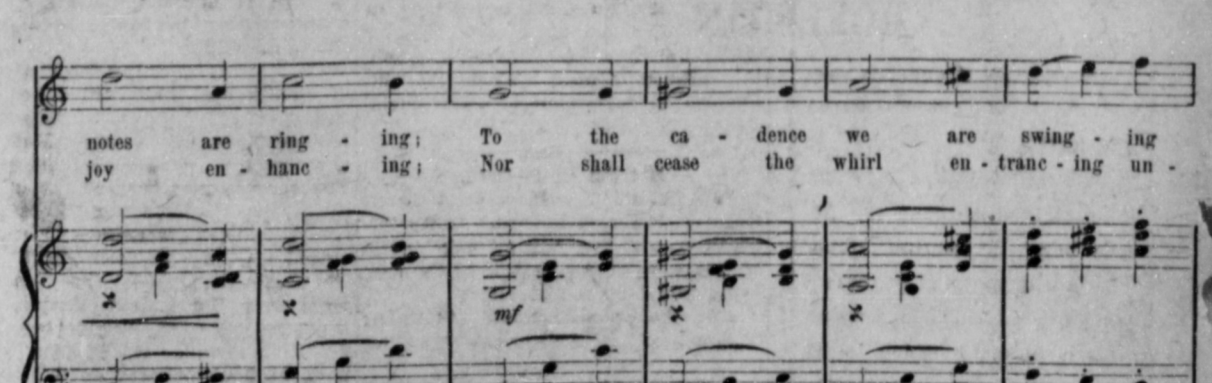

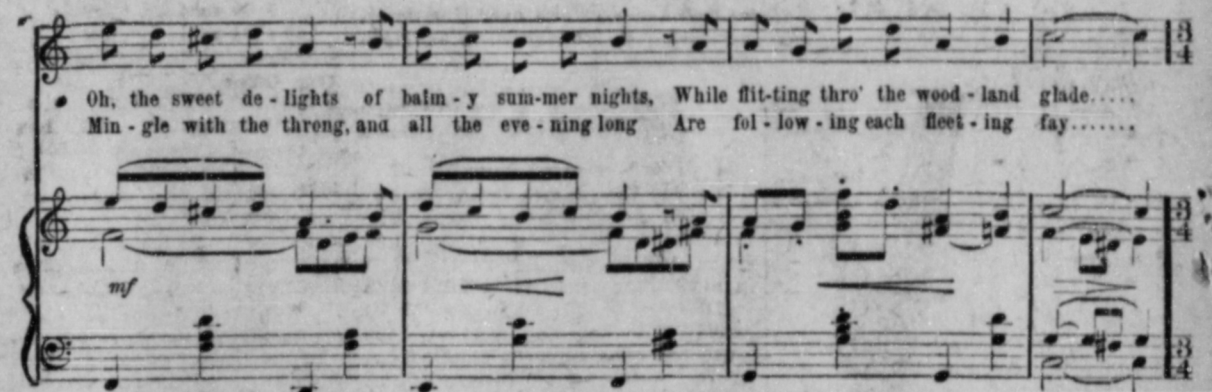

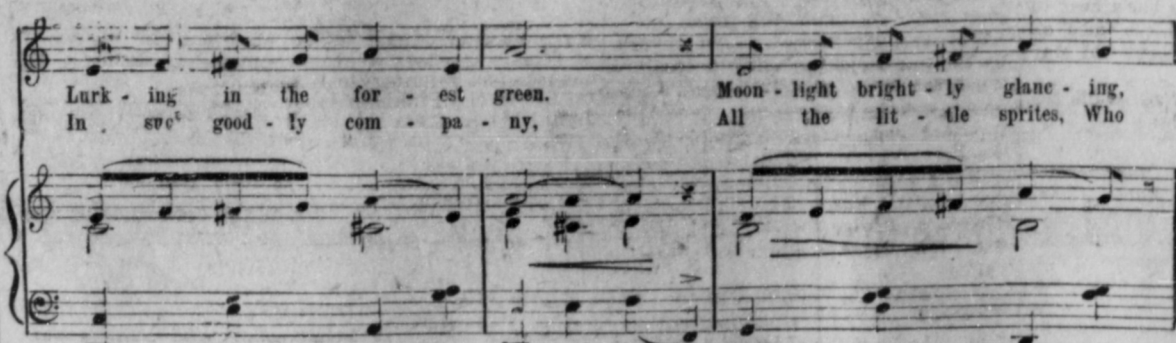

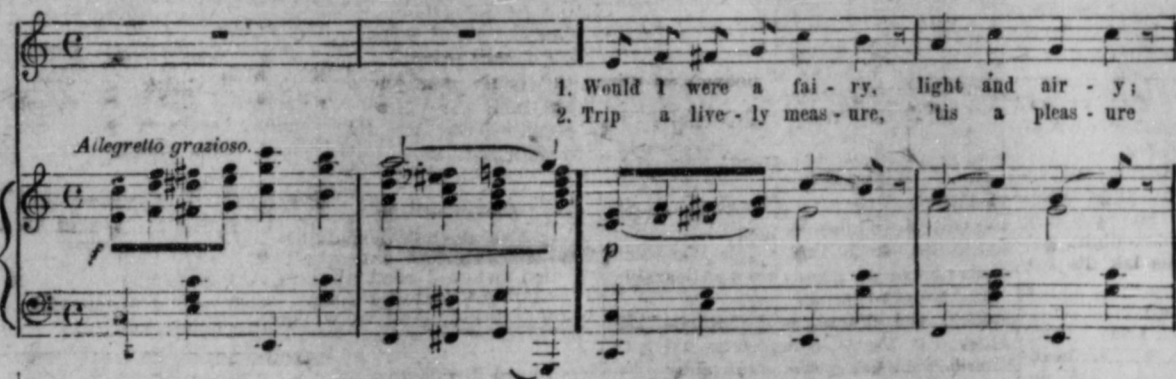

"What are you doing here?" said the woman to the tramp who had got over the wall just in time to escape the bulldog.

"Madam," replied the dignified vagrant, "I did intend to request something to eat; but all I ask now is that, in the interests of humanity, you'll feed that canine."—London Globe.

WITHOUT BENEFIT OF CLERGY.

WHEN the steamer had gone Napoleon Doret went to look for Necia and found her playing with the younger Gales, who revealed in the gifts he had brought. Never had there been such gorgeous presents for little folk. The elder girl laughed gladly as Poleon entered, though her eyes were wet with the pity of it.

"You seem to bring sunshine wherever you go," she said. "They have never had things to play with like other children, and it makes me cry to watch them."

"Ho, ho," he chuckled. "dis ain't no time for cryin', ba gosh! I guess you don't have so much present when you was lit gal you self, w'at? Melbe you tink I forget you. Waa! I didn't."

He began to undo the fastenings of a parcel he carried in his arms.

"Don't you dare open it!" cried Necia. "Why, that's half the fun!" She was a child herself now, her face flushed and her hands a-tremble. Taking the package to the table, she hurriedly untied the knots while he stood watching her, his teeth showing white against his dark face and his eyes half shut as if dazzled by the sight of her.

"Oh, why didn't you tie more knots in it?" she breathed as she undid the last, and then, opening the wrappings slowly, she gasped in astonishment. She shook it out gently, reverently, a clinging black lace gown of Paris make. Next she opened a box and took from it a picture hat with long jet plumes, which she stroked and pressed fondly against her face. There were other garments also—a silken petticoat, silk stockings and a pair of high heeled shoes to match, with certain other delicate and dainty things which she modestly forbore to inspect before the Frenchman, who said no word, but only gazed at her, and for whom she had no eyes as yet. Finally she laid her presents aside and, turning to him, said in a hushed, awe-stricken voice:

"It's all there, everything complete! Oh, Poleon—your dear, dear Poleon!" She took his two big hands by the thumbs, as had been her custom ever since she was a child, and looked up at him, her eyes wet with emotion. But she could not keep away from the dress for long and returned to feast her eyes upon it.

"You lak it, eh?" pressed Poleon, hungry for more demonstrative expression.

"Oh-hi," she sighed. "Where on earth did you get it? Why, it must have cost a fortune!"

"Wan night I gamble in beeg saloon. Yes, sir! I gamble good dat night too. For w'ile I play roulette, den I dance den I play more, an' by an' by I see a new dance gal. She's Franche gal, from Montreal. Dat's de one I tol' you 'bout. Ba gar, she's swell dress' too. She's name' Marie Bourgette."

"Oh, I've heard about her," said Necia. "She owns a claim on Bonanza creek."

"Sure, she's frien's wit' Charlie McCormack, dat riche feller, but I don't know it dis tam', so I ask her for dance wit' me. Den we drink a bottle of champagne—twenty dollar."

"Mamselle, I say, how much you charge for sell me dat dress?"

"For w'y shall I sell 'im? she say. 'I don't wear 'im before 'im tonight, an' I don't get no more dress lak dis for t'ousan' dollar!'"

Necia exclaimed excitedly.

"For w'y you sell 'im? I say. 'Because I'll tak' 'im down to Flambeau for Necia Gale, w'at never had no dress lak dat in all her life.' Waa! sir, dat Marie Bourgette she's hear of you before, an' your dad, too—mos' all dese Cheechakos know 'bout Old Mar Gale—so she say."

"W'at lookin' kind of gal is dis Necia? An' I tell her all 'bout you. W'en I'm 'tough she say:

"'But maybe your little frien' is more bigger as I am. Maybe de dress won't fit.'

"'Ha, you don't know me, mamselle! I say, 'I can guess de weight of a car-bon to five pound.' She'll be same size lak'in' one lak round de wals.'

"'Poleon Doret,' she say, 'you ain't no Francheman to talk lak dat. Look here! I can sell dis dress for t'ousan' dollar tonight, or I can trade 'im for CHAPTER III.

WITHOUT BENEFIT OF CLERGY.

WHEN the steamer had gone Napoleon Doret went to look for Necia and found her playing with the younger Gales, who revealed in the gifts he had brought. Never had there been such gorgeous presents for little folk. The elder girl laughed gladly as Poleon entered, though her eyes were wet with the pity of it.

"You seem to bring sunshine wherever you go," she said. "They have never had things to play with like other children, and it makes me cry to watch them."

"Ho, ho," he chuckled. "dis ain't no time for cryin', ba gosh! I guess you don't have so much present when you was lit gal you self, w'at? Melbe you tink I forget you. Waa! I didn't."

He began to undo the fastenings of a parcel he carried in his arms.

"Don't you dare open it!" cried Necia. "Why, that's half the fun!" She was a child herself now, her face flushed and her hands a-tremble. Taking the package to the table, she hurriedly untied the knots while he stood watching her, his teeth showing white against his dark face and his eyes half shut as if dazzled by the sight of her.

"Oh, why didn't you tie more knots in it?" she breathed as she undid the last, and then, opening the wrappings slowly, she gasped in astonishment. She shook it out gently, reverently, a clinging black lace gown of Paris make. Next she opened a box and took from it a picture hat with long jet plumes, which she stroked and pressed fondly against her face. There were other garments also—a silken petticoat, silk stockings and a pair of high heeled shoes to match, with certain other delicate and dainty things which she modestly forbore to inspect before the Frenchman, who said no word, but only gazed at her, and for whom she had no eyes as yet. Finally she laid her presents aside and, turning to him, said in a hushed, awe-stricken voice:

"It's all there, everything complete! Oh, Poleon—your dear, dear Poleon!" She took his two big hands by the thumbs, as had been her custom ever since she was a child, and looked up at him, her eyes wet with emotion. But she could not keep away from the dress for long and returned to feast her eyes upon it.

"You lak it, eh?" pressed Poleon, hungry for more demonstrative expression.

"Oh-hi," she sighed. "Where on earth did you get it? Why, it must have cost a fortune!"

"Wan night I gamble in beeg saloon. Yes, sir! I gamble good dat night too. For w'ile I play roulette, den I dance den I play more, an' by an' by I see a new dance gal. She's Franche gal, from Montreal. Dat's de one I tol' you 'bout. Ba gar, she's swell dress' too. She's name' Marie Bourgette."

"Oh, I've heard about her," said Necia. "She owns a claim on Bonanza creek."

"Sure, she's frien's wit' Charlie McCormack, dat riche feller, but I don't know it dis tam', so I ask her for dance wit' me. Den we drink a bottle of champagne—twenty dollar."

"Mamselle, I say, how much you charge for sell me dat dress?"

MOTHER'S FRIEND

TOBACCO NEWS

Louisville, Ky., April 19.—Total offerings this week were 1,088 hogsheads. Of this number 106 were new burley, 30 old burley, 921 new dark and 31 old dark. There were only 106 hogsheads of new burley offered, quality was poor, showing but little color, and the condition was very bad. The market for common grades of red burley was fully 1/2 cent lower, medium and good red leaf were easier, color smokers and strippers were firm. There was a fair demand for good old burley when sound and sweet. Prices for common and medium grades were from 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower; unsound and funky tobacco were neglected.

There were 503 hogsheads of new dark offered at auction, quality of the air-cured leaf was only fair, as a large percentage was common, re-handling styles in bad order. Manufacturing leaf, when sound, was firm; long re-handling leaf was 1/4 cent higher, trash and common lugs were easier; medium and good lugs, when suitable for burley substitutes, were in better demand; prices were a few bids higher. The quality of the fired or export leaf was poor, and condition was very objectionable, as there was more soft and fermented tobacco offered than at any time this year; prices for all grades of unsound leaf were lower; leaf in good condition was firm. Trash and common lugs in soft order were lower; the better grades of lugs in good condition were in fair demand at unchanged prices. No old dark offered.

The reported private sales consisted largely of Upper Cumberland and air-cured leaf, sampled but not sold; a few hogsheads of old dark and a few hogsheads of old Green river sold to various parties.

This weather is all that can be desired for farm work.

House Was in Three States.

Montana is believed to possess three brothers with a history more remarkable than has heretofore been known. The story is vouched for by Col. Thomas C. Marshall, of Missoula, National Republican committeeman for Montana.

"I believe," said Col. Marshall, "that the history of the brothers stands unprecedented in the annals of American history. That they should be born in the same house, and at the same time each born in a different state, seems incredible, and all the more so when on its original site."

"These brothers are named Wright, and are now residents of Missoula county, Montana. When the eldest of these brothers was born that particular section of the county was in Oregon, as a portion of the Louisiana purchase."

"Several years later a second boy was born to the Wright family, but in the meantime Idaho had been segregated from the original territory, and therefore he was a native of Idaho, and his elder brother was an Oregonian."

"Again a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wright, but he was neither an Oregonian and Idahoan, but a Montanan, the treasure state having been sliced from Idaho in the meantime. Thus three brothers were born in the same house and each in a different state."

"They are getting along in years, but the house still stands and is still occupied by the Wright family," Helena (Mont.) Cor. St. Paul Dispatch.

Not a Good Speaker.

Shortly after his rise to the bench Judge Coleman, of San Francisco, had occasion to pronounce a life sentence upon a notorious offender. In the course of his remarks the judge spoke with so much feeling and eloquence that many of the listeners were deeply affected. The prisoner, on the other hand, seemed to be quite indifferent, looking at the ceiling and apparently giving no attention whatever to what was being said. After he had been remanded to jail one of the young lawyers had gone into the cell, curious to know how the criminal had felt when his honor was passing sentence upon him. "What do you mean?" asked the convicted one. "I mean when the judge was telling you you must go to prison for life." "You mean when he was talking to me?" "Yes." "Oh, I never paid no attention to Dick Coleman; he ain't no public speaker no-how!"

Methuselah was in a reminiscent mood. "Well, I can honestly say," he remarked, "that I never ascribed my longevity to abstention from tobacco."—Philadelphia Ledger.

During the coming financial year (July 1 to June 30) London will expend $19,990,825 for elementary and $4,728,610 for higher education, a total of $24,720,435.

FIRST OF THE SWIFTS.

The Refrigerator Car the Invention of a Cape Cod Yankee.

Gustavus Franklin Swift, the first of this commercial dynasty, was a Cape Cod Yankee who bought a steer now and then and peddled the meat from the back of a certain go-cart which has since become famous.

He moved to Albany and went deeper into meats, discarding one after another partners who had not the foresight and daring which he possessed. He located in Chicago at the beginning of those days of great possibilities in bringing into touch the new west and the older east.

It was he who invented the first refrigerator cars. This was the one revolutionary act which put his sons and a few other sons in very fair control of half of the meat of America.

He saw the market for dressed beef extended only after the hardest of fights. All great revolutions are fought against. All the east, all England, all Europe fought the idea of dressed beef and then accepted it. I doubt if we could do without it now. —Cosmopolitan.

Money Comes in Bunches.

to A. A. Chisholm, of Treadwell, N. Y., now. His reason is well worth reading: "For a long time I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, and general debility," he writes. "I couldn't sleep, had no appetite, nor ambition, grew weaker every day in spite of all medical treatment. Then used Electric Bitters. Twelve bottles restored all my old-time health and vigor. Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infallible for Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Blood and Nerves. 50c at all druggists.

"Will you have any outings this summer?"

"That will depend on whether I have any innings this spring." —Baltimore American.

TREASURE IN THE BANK IS SAVED

Illinois Woman Exchanged Fifteen Shots With Robber.

Explosion Awoke Her and She Opened Fire on Man Left on Guard—Robbers Made Away

WITH THE SILVER, HOWEVER.

Panama, Ill., April 19.—Attired only in her night gown and grasping a revolver in her right hand, Mrs. W. W. Mitchell exchanged fifteen shots with a bank robber at 3 o'clock this morning, while the marauder, with two pistols, was keeping a steady fire through her bedroom window, where she stood concealed.

The heroic act on the part of Mrs. Mitchell saved the bank of Panama $8,000 in paper money.

Three robbers had entered the front of the bank and applied nitroglycerine to the outer compartment of the vault.

The explosion awakened Mrs. Mitchell, who went to her window and saw the outside man left as a lookout by the burglars.

She returned to her bureau, taking out her revolver and a box of cartridges, and, concealing herself behind the lace curtains, opened fire on the lookout without opening the window.

Mrs. Mitchell quickly loaded her revolver and, moving quickly about, so that the flashes from her revolver would not betray her exact location, kept up the fire.

The duel soon awakened the entire town, but the robbers escaped with $700 in silver which had been placed in the outside compartment of the bank safe.

The inner safe, which contained $8,000 in paper money, had been untouched through the early defense assumed by Mrs. Mitchell.

Lighting Plant Contract Let.

The board of public works Saturday afternoon recommended to the general council that the bid of the Babcock-Wilcox company, of Pittsburgh, for furnishing a boiler for the city light plant company be accepted. The bid of James Jewell & Son, of Cincinnati, for the erection of the brick stack at the plant, was recommended. If the general council indorses the bids the two firms will get the contracts. The council appropriated $2,000 for the improvements, but to equip the plant properly the expense will be $1,100 additional.

The John S. Hopkins will be the Evansville packet tomorrow morning.

The H. W. Buttorff will be in from Nashville and way landings tomorrow afternoon and return at 6 o'clock in the evening. On the trip of the Buttorff Saturday evening there were 30 round-trip passengers from Nashville among whom were James R. Love, manager of the St. Bernard Mining company, of Nashville, and family. A band of 60 gypsies, with 25 horses and 8 wagons were turned loose in this city off the Buttorff. The gypsies passengers rate 1W Co-nj 123456 6 came here from Clarksville. The passenger rate on the Buttorff has been cut to compete with the Tyner line, the J. B. Richardson. The low rate has been the means of making passenger travel on the Cumberland very large. The J. B. Richardson will be in from Nashville and way landings tomorrow afternoon and return at 6 o'clock. The J. B. has been doing a heavy freight business out of this port. Both the Cumberland river packets are fighting hard, but it seems that business is good enough to permit both boats to work the Cumberland.

The Dick Fowler carried about 200 excursionists to Golconda yesterday and returned last evening at 6:30 o'clock. There was a good band aboard and the trip was most enjoyable to all the excursionists. The Fowler will continue to make Sunday excursions out of this port.

The George Cowling carried several hundred excursionists between Metropolis and this city yesterday on three round trips from Metropolis.

The Reaper is expected today from the mines at Caseyville with a tow of coal for the West Kentucky Coal company and on her arrival the Harvester will make up a big tow of coal and leave for New Orleans. The trip of the Harvester will be the first shipment of West Kentucky coal to New Orleans by river.

The Lyda came in port today from Joppa and will tie up for several days.

The American will get away the latter part of this week for the Tennessee after a tow of ties for Cairo. She is now having some light repair work done.

The Pavonia will return to the Cumberland tomorrow after a tow of ties for the Ayer & Lord Tie company.

The new gasoline boat "Thistle," was given a try out yesterday and it is thought by the owners that the "Thistle" will prove to be one of the fastest pleasure crafts in the local harbor.

Capt. Young Taylor of the Paducah Dry Dock, completed his new country home four miles out on the Hinkleville road. Captain Taylor will move into his home in about two weeks. The house is so arranged that it can be thrown open on all sides, and it has six large rooms, 104 feet of porch front, and a large hall running the full length of the house.

JURY GIVES SMALL DAMAGES IN HENDERSON CASE.

Judge Cochran's Instructions Had Little Effect—Noted Night Rider Suit Decided.

Covington, Ky., April 19.—W. S.
Henderson, of Augusta, Ky., was awarded a verdict of $250 by the jury in Judge Cochran's court. He sued for $25,000, naming 26 defendants, whom he claimed assaulted him in a night rider raid in Bracken county.
The case went to the jury shortly before noon and the verdict was reached after three hours' deliberation.

The judge's charge occupied 50 minutes of time and was so complete and lucid a review of the evidence as to surprise even the attorneys in the case. In defining personal liberty, Judge Cochran said in part:

"The men who were formed into a party which called on the various buyers, including Henderson, and made them sign an agreement were acting under a sense of economic wrong. A show of force is in itself an assault. A man has the right to sell his tobacco to any person he chooses and may buy from any person he wishes, provided that person is willing to sell."

The judge told the jury that there could be no doubt in the mind of any reasonable man who had heard the evidence of the guilt of the defendants and all to be decided was the amount of Henderson's loss.

It is asserted that Henderson's attorneys will ask a new trial. The alleged assault on Henderson occurred December 30, 1907, and he immediately thereafter moved to Cincinnati. Previously, on December 4, he had been visited by riders and for this visit has a $10,000 suit pending which will be tried at the next term of court. He alleges that there were about 200 men in the last crowd that visited him.

GET MRS. CARMAK'S PETITION.

Representative Austin Hands It to President's Secretary.

Washington, April 19.—Representative Austin, of Tennessee, presented to Secretary Carpenter at the white house the petition asking for the appointment of Mrs. Edward Carmack as postmistress at Columbia.
Mr. Austin intended to deliver the petition to the president, but was prevented from doing so by a cabinet meeting. Senator Taylor did not sign the petition, but he is making a personal appeal to the president for Mrs. Carmack's appointment.

The report that Mrs. Carmack and the president had discussed her appointment over the long distance telephone was denied by Secretary Carpenter, who said that the president had not communicated with Mrs. Carmack in regard to the Columbia postoffice or any other subject.

A Ready-Made Verdict.

Fargo, North Dakota, once boasted a composite postmaster and coroner.
He was called one day to give his verdict upon the case of a stranger who had been the victim of a fit on the main street. As the man was known to nobody, he was hurried to the much-prized new "city hospital."
There the case diagnosed as appendicitis, but when the operation took place the attending surgeon discovered that the patient had been previously relieved of his appendix. The doctor endeavored to retrace his steps but the strange man died from the effects of the operation. The postmaster-corporer, in rendering his verdict, filled in the space after "Cause of Death," with a rubber stamp which read: "Opened by Mistake."—Success Magazine.

Chiles Victim of Hopeless Disease.

While fishing in Perkins Creek on Friday afternoon, Arthur Chiles, son of the Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Chiles, ject to epilepsy, and toppled out of the skiff into the water and was unable to assist himself. He was visiting his uncle, F. M. Chiles, at Maxon Mills. The news of his death did not reach Paducah until Saturday night, following the finding of his body early Saturday night.

He was said to have the longest name of any boy in the world. His name in full was: Arthur Hugh Thomas T. DeWitt Talmage Hardin
Eddy Lane Arland Linnie Marion
Branch Sam Jones Pigg Reuben Walker Chiles. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at Mt.
Pleasant church with burial in Bald Knob cemetery.

HERRING CAUGHT BY HAND.

Truthful Fisherman Who Swam After That Would Not Bite.

Brother Walton, of the "Printery," is like his renowned predecessor, Isaak, an adept fisherman, and whenever the weather is fine and he can get a day off he goes fishing.

Now this modern Walton, unlike some other fishermen who have had bad luck in their piscatorial excursions, will not, about his exploits and buy a bunch of fish to back up his prevarication when he gets home, but always tells the truth, and thereupon hangs this tale of an expedition made by the good brother and a friend of his on the Potomac river, not far from the Chain bridge.

It was a fine morning in the closing days of last spring that our man from the G. P. O. felt the fishing fever getting possession of him. So he suggested to a friend in the same office that they take a holiday and spend it in capturing a few black bass, white perch and other denizens of the river on the Virginia side. That sounded good to his friend, and they made preparations accordingly. Hooks, lines and bait were procured, with other material necessary to a well-equipped fisherman's outfit, and they started forth.

They anchored their boat near a little inlet and threw their lines.
There were fish there in abundance, for in the cool, clear water they could be seen swimming along, but either they were not hungry or else they did not see the tempting bait, for they did not bite. There was not even a nibble.

Suddenly the fishermen heard a loud splashing in the little inlet nearby. "There's plenty of fish in there," said Brother Walton, "and I'm going to have some of them if I have to swim after them." The fishermen had a brief conference and determined to try the experiment of swimming into the inlet. So they doffed their garments and into the river they plunged. They found the water of an icy coldness, but it was not in their souls to give heed to a little matter like that. They were after fish and determined to catch some.

After some minutes they met with success. Each one of the fishermen was rewarded, for each had caught in his hand one miserable little herring, such as one could buy at any fish stand in Center Market for 10 cents a dozen. All the pretty shiners they had seen gliding by them were herring, which never bite at a hook, but are caught in a net.

It is due to Brother Walton's high regard for the truth that this little episode became known to his many friends, and he acknowledges that he is somewhat richer in experience by the occurrence. He has learned enough not to mistake a Potomac herring for a black bass or a perch.—

Hunting By Telephone.

The rural telephone plays an important part in bird shooting in the prairie provinces of Canada. There is an abundance of geese, ducks and prairie chicken in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and the shooting is good clear up to the limits of the cities.

Let a flock of geese be sighted on its way south from the breeding grounds on the shores of Hudson Bay or up the Yukon or on its return north in the spring, and the telephone is brought into play to summon sportsmen for twenty miles around. The birds make overnight stops wherever they find water, and the gunners spend most of the night in preparation.

They dig holes deep enough to conceal a man and set decoys about thirty yards away. Experienced hunters will wait until the flock is passing and then shoot into the flock from behind.
It has been shown that shot is more effective this way than when the attack is made from the front.

The windier the day the better, for the geese fly low. Most geese are shot when flying less than forty yards from the ground.

Subbubs—What? Moving again?
I thought you liked your little flat.
Cityman—So we did. But my wife has gained ten pounds and we need the room.—Chicago News.

PREFERS DEATH TO DIVORCE. Rather Than Appear in Court, Grace Caldwell Kills Self.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 19.—
When the name of Grace Caldwell, defendant in the suit for divorce against her by Lester Caldwell, was called in the circuit court last evening she did not answer, and during a conference of her attorneys and the judge a messenger rushed in and said that rather than appear Mrs. Caldwell had killed herself. She had drunk carbolic acid. A physician who hurried to her home prevented her immediate death, and the judge has postponed hearing of the divorce case until her recovery. Members of Mrs.
Caldwell's family have informed the police that when the date of the trial was set she attempted to choke her baby to death and kill herself, and that she had insisted she never would face the court.

"Time's Flight Turned Backward" SAGE AND SULPHUR Made Her look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss. Rochester, N. Y.

Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a school girl I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair, that was so plentiful, rich and glossy, that it was the envy of many of my young schoolmates, and attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. After I was married and as I grew older, my hair commenced to come out just a little at first, but gradually as time passed it came out more and more, and began to turn gray. I was induced by many good reports heard of Sage and Sulphur, to try a bottle. My hair was quite gray and thin on top when I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and you may imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, becoming thicker, darker, smoother and glossier than it had been for a long time. I continued the use of Sage and Sulphur and my hair is now in a splendid condition, as heavy and as dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. From my experience I believe it is one's own fault if they lose their hair, or let it get gray or harsh. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and still use it, and my hair still keeps thick, dark, smooth and glossy.

Sworn to before me this 19th day of July, 1909

Nancy A. Herrick
Notary Public.
